

Designing Carbon Capture

The best method is to place some bicarbonate of soda in a balloon. Add water and lemon juice to the bottle.

Carefully place the balloon onto the neck of the bottle, without tipping in the bicarbonate of soda until the balloon has created a seal.

When the bicarbonate of soda is tipped into the bottle, the reaction begins and the balloon inflates with carbon dioxide.

